

KEEPSAKE PENDANTS

Memorial jewellery, also known as cremation jewellery, keepsake jewellery or jewellery urns, is a uniquely special way to memorialise a loved one by holding a small amount of cremation ashes or other mementos such as locks of hair, wedding rings, flower petals or a special message to or from the deceased.

Each memorial jewellery pendant opens by a screw top bail or small screw. The jewellery opens to reveal a secure and discreet area inside for holding your precious keepsakes. All the designs we supply are specifically designed for this purpose. It is not uncommon for family members to divide a portion of the cremated ashes and distribute a portion of them among themselves - particularly when family members are residing overseas.

This is an example of Keepsake Pendants we have for viewing. Please ask your funeral director if you have another piece in mind and they will help you with another choice.

Whether you choose a traditional memorial for your loved one, or a scattering of the ashes, memorial jewellery gives you the choice to keep a small memento close to your heart forever.

If you don't feel comfortable filling your memorial jewellery yourself you can ask your funeral director to do this for you.

Every piece of fine memorial jewellery comes with complete instructions and accessories for filling the jewellery. These detailed instructions will guide you through the filling process. Also included is information on how to care for your memorial pendant and information on water tightness.

We hope you find a very special memorial jewellery piece to remember your loved one and should you ever have any questions please feel free to contact us.

THE TEALIGHT RANGE

Crafted with excellence, the Tealight Keepsake Urns are a lovely keepsake memento for when the urn is buried, stored in a niche, or kept by another family member.

The tealight allows you to add a beautiful decorative accent to your home in a discreet manner. That way you can keep the tealight urn out in your home without drawing attention to the fact that it is a cremation urn.

The top portion includes a glass tealight insert and a screw-off brass top that doubles as the tealight holder. The base portion provides the space for holding up to 20 cubic inches of cremated remains (ashes), while providing the tealight with balance and space for the design.

LOVE SHARING URNS

Cloisonne is an elaborate process performed in Europe and China for centuries. The shape of the urn is firstly formed out of a metal such as copper and coated with a thin coating of enamel before firing.

After firing, very fine strands of silver wire bent into shapes, are glued to the surface forming a raised pattern.

The urn is fired again to fuse the two together. A water-based paste of crushed powdered glass (enamel) is painted into the raised patterns and dried before firing again in an oven to melt it onto the metal.

Finally the surface undergoes a polishing process to present an everlasting, very beautiful appearance.

The gelcoat is especially formulated so as to produce a tough, durable, non-porous and shiny surface, very stain resistant and easy to maintain.

METAL URNS This selection of urns are made of various metals and types of finish to give a different look. They are supplied with screw-on lids and all brass fittings are solid brass. Some of these ranges of urns can be engraved.

CERAMIC URNS Ceramic cremation urns were the first urns ever created to hold the ashes of the ones we love.

Early man discovered that firing the clay at very high temperatures would turn it from something temporary to a sacred vessel that would last for thousands of years.

The hundreds of years of experimenting with different firing techniques and coatings (glaze) resulted in many techniques used by today's skilled artisans.

Every urn in our selection of handcrafted ceramic urns is unique. We hope you will find the urn that will be a perfect resting place for your loved one.
